

Our Mission

Imagine Scholar is an educational development program for inspired youth from the rural Nkomazi region of South Africa. Our program cultivates local talent, and empowers them early on to be the drivers of change in their communities. Through a unique curriculum, students explore and build their personal character, acquire critical thinking skill sets, and develop university-level English proficiency. While on their journey of development, the Imagine Scholar students use their learned skills and unique passions to develop their own social entrepreneurship projects, allowing for immediate tangible change to take place in their communities.

Vision

Imagine Scholar provides the skill-sets and tools to high achieving students who not only want to change the course of their lives, but the future of their communities.

History

- 2009: The Journey Begins

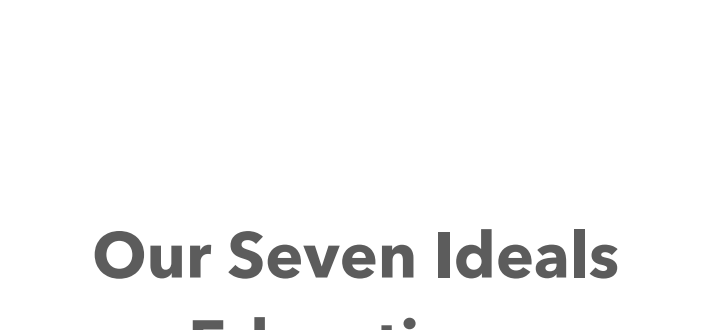

The Imagine Scholar journey began in 2009 when a young American named Corey Johnson came to South Africa’s rural Nkomazi region
- 2010: The Creation of the Imagine Scholar Program

The Imagine Scholar academy was created to address these three shortcomings.
- 2011: A Year of Expansion

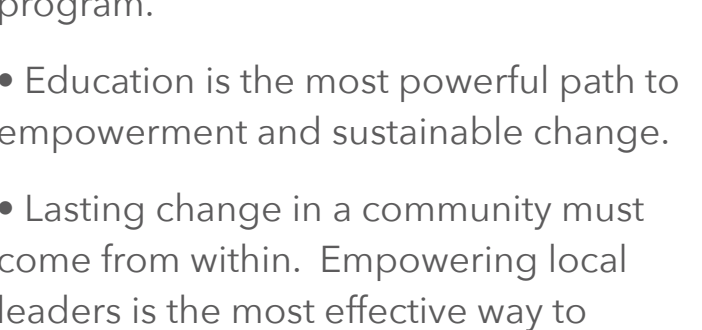

The following year, the program expanded. Ten new ninth graders joined the fold, for a total of 15 students.
- 2014: The Adventure Continues!

Read Our Full History

How We Work

Critical ThinkingCharacter

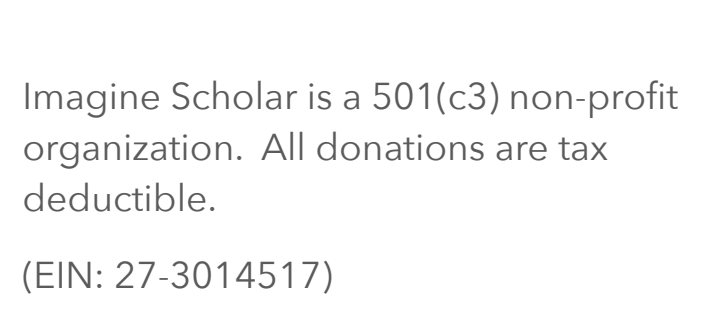

CommunicationCommunity

Our Seven Ideals on Education

The seven truisms form the philosophical underpinning of the Imagine Scholar program.

- Education is the most powerful path to empowerment and sustainable change.
- Lasting change in a community must come from within. Empowering local leaders is the most effective way to transform a community.
- An open mind among all parties is essential for meaningful growth. We believe in letting students take an active role in their education.
- Learning should never be boring. The best education takes advantage of children’s inherent passion to learn.
- All parties must bring their own passion. The organization’s commitment to excellence needs to fully meet and reciprocate the scholar’s personal determination. This exchange brings empowerment, not charity.
- Quality, not quantity, is central. An outstanding, individualized education to motivated students offers boundless opportunities.
- Every child who is willing to work hard deserves to have a space where he or she feels safe and supported.

Where We Are

Nikomazi

The Nkomazi, nestled south of Kruger National Park, north of Swaziland, and west of Mozambique, encompasses beautiful hilly terrain in the country’s northeast.

During the apartheid era, many families were forcefully relocated to the Nkomazi region. In the 1980s, thousands of refugees fleeing the Mozambican Civil War moved to the region as well. The effects of these events are still felt and the Nkomazi’s difficult economic conditions persist to this day.

Get Email Updates

Email Address

Submit

Contact Us

+1.206.604.0161

US Address

South Africa Address

Connect

Facebook

Twitter

Youtube

Get Involved

Donate

Sponsor a Student

Volunteer

Imagine Scholar is a 501(c3) non-profit organization. All donations are tax deductible.

(EIN: 27-3014517)

©2014 Imagine Scholar

Our Mission

Imagine Scholar is an educational development program for inspired youth from the rural Nkomazi region of South Africa. Our program cultivates local talent, and empowers them early on to be the drivers of change in their communities. Through a unique curriculum, students explore and build their personal character, acquire critical thinking skill sets, and develop university-level English proficiency. While on their journey of development, the Imagine Scholar students use their learned skills and unique passions to develop their own social entrepreneurship projects, allowing for immediate tangible change to take place in their communities.

Vision

Imagine Scholar provides the skill-sets and tools to high achieving students who not only want to change the course of their lives, but the future of their communities.

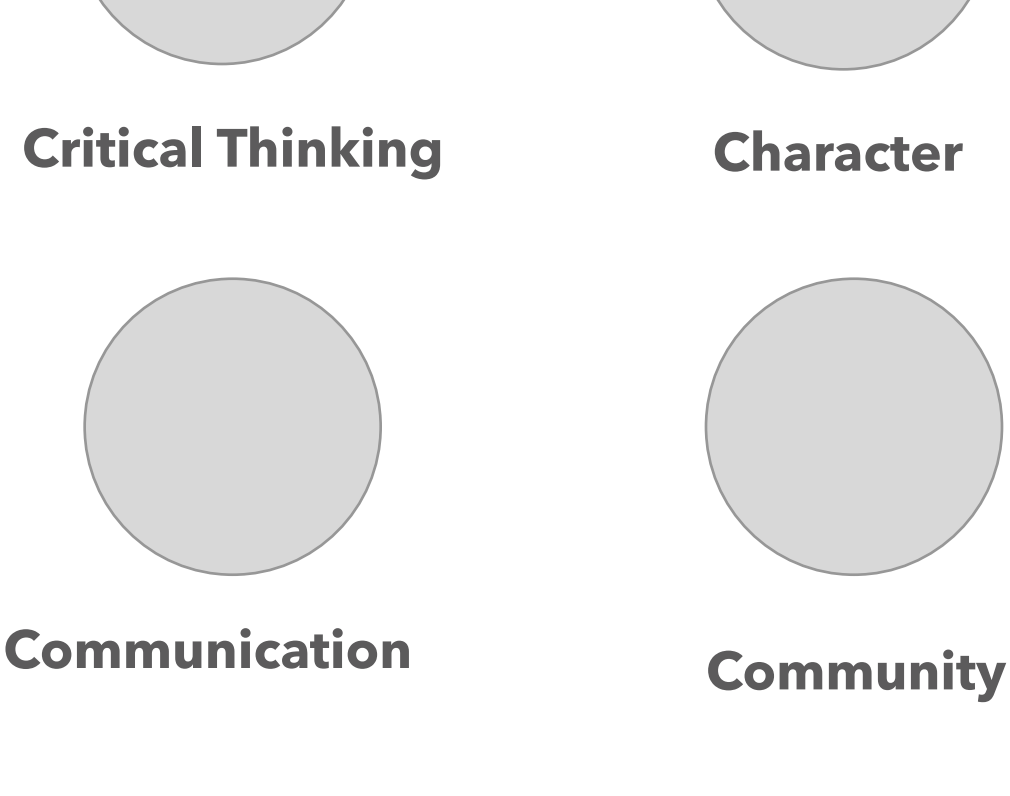

History

- 2009: The Journey Begins
The Imagine Scholar journey began in 2009 when a young American named Corey Johnson came to South Africa’s rural Nkomazi region
- 2010: The Creation of the Imagine Scholar Program
The Imagine Scholar academy was created to address these three shortcomings.
- 2011: A Year of Expansion
The following year, the program expanded. Ten new ninth graders joined the fold, for a total of 15 students.
- 2014: The Adventure Continues!

Read Our Full History

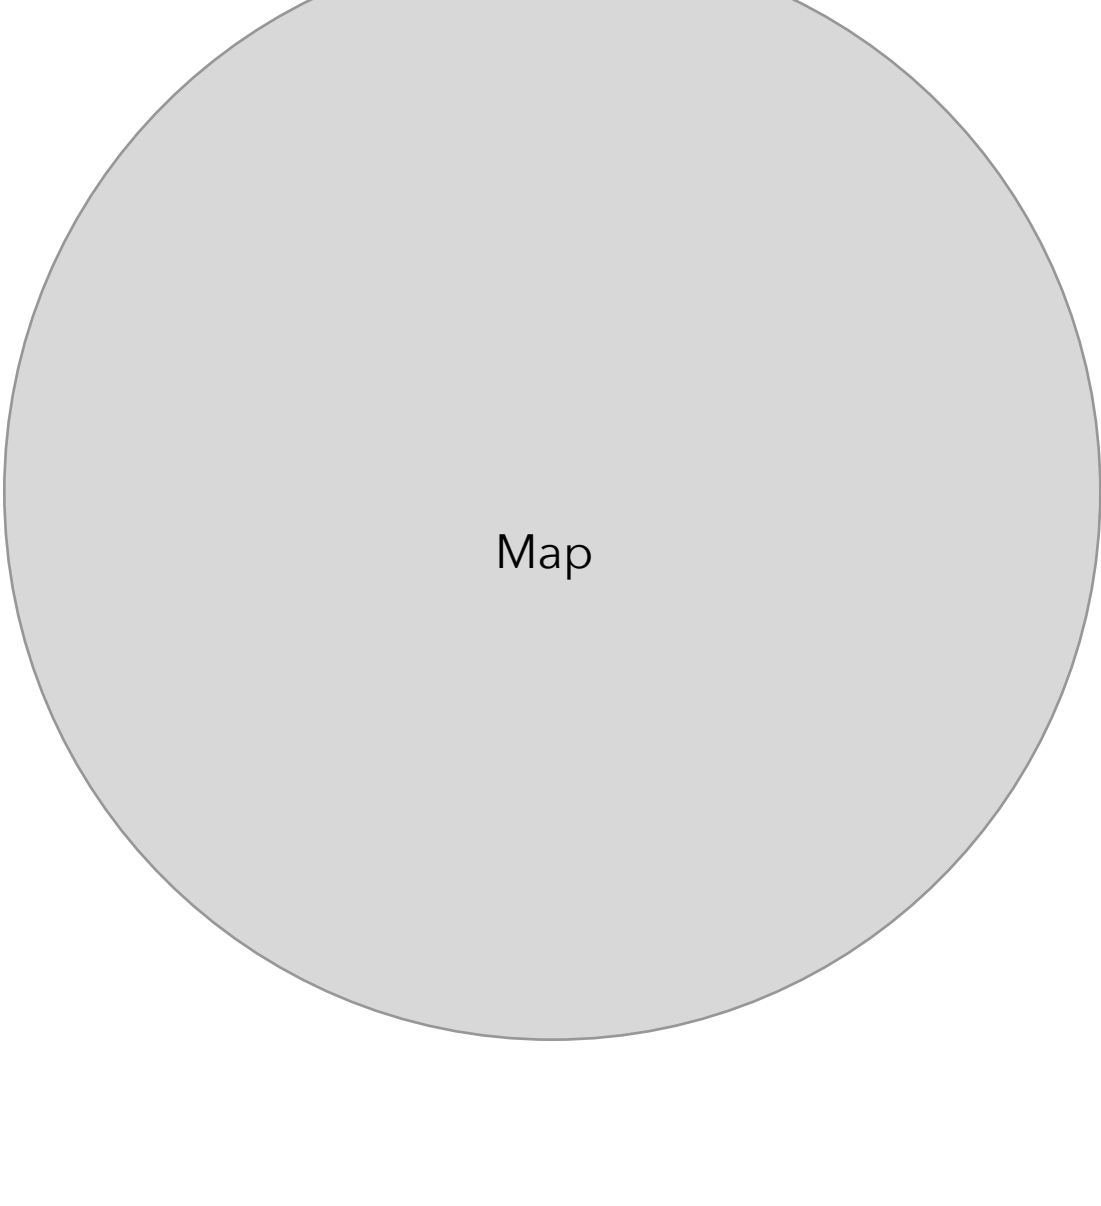

How We Work

Our Seven Ideals on Education

- The seven truisms form the philosophical underpinning of the Imagine Scholar program.
- Education is the most powerful path to empowerment and sustainable change.
 - Lasting change in a community must come from within. Empowering local leaders is the most effective way to transform a community.
 - An open mind among all parties is essential for meaningful growth. We believe in letting students take an active role in their education.
 - Learning should never be boring. The best education takes advantage of children’s inherent passion to learn.
 - All parties must bring their own passion. The organization’s commitment to excellence needs to fully meet and reciprocate the scholar’s personal determination. This exchange brings empowerment, not charity.
 - Quality, not quantity, is central. An outstanding, individualized education to motivated students offers boundless opportunities.
 - Every child who is willing to work hard deserves to have a space where he or she feels safe and supported.

Where We Are

Nikomazi

The Nkomazi, nestled south of Kruger National Park, north of Swaziland, and west of Mozambique, encompasses beautiful hilly terrain in the country’s northeast.

During the apartheid era, many families were forcefully relocated to the Nkomazi region. In the 1980s, thousands of refugees fleeing the Mozambican Civil War moved to the region as well. The effects of these events are still felt and the Nkomazi’s difficult economic conditions persist to this day.

Get Email Updates

Email Address

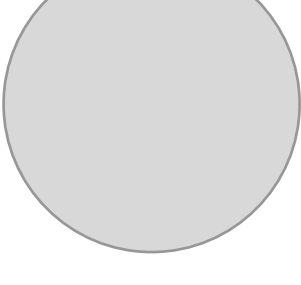

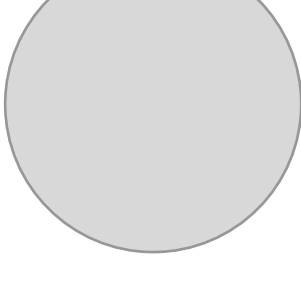

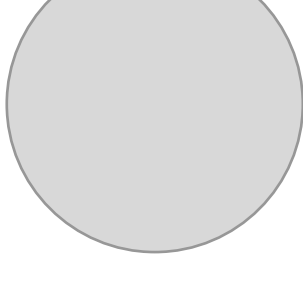

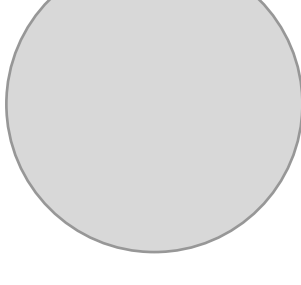

Submit

Our Mission

Imagine Scholar is an educational development program for inspired youth from the rural Nkomazi region of South Africa. Our program cultivates local talent, and empowers them early on to be the drivers of change in their communities. Through a unique curriculum, students explore and build their personal character, acquire critical thinking skill sets, and develop university-level English proficiency. While on their journey of development, the Imagine Scholar students use their learned skills and unique passions to develop their own social entrepreneurship projects, allowing for immediate tangible change to take place in their communities.

Vision

Imagine Scholar provides the skill-sets and tools to high achieving students who not only want to change the course of their lives, but the future of their communities.

History

2009: The Journey Begins
The Imagine Scholar journey began in 2009 when a young American named Corey Johnson came to South Africa’s rural Nkomazi region

2010: The Creation of the Imagine Scholar Program
The Imagine Scholar academy was created to address these three shortcomings.

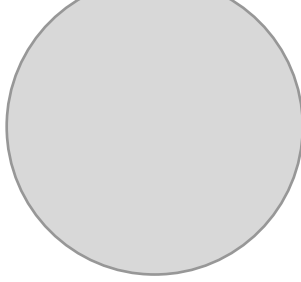

2011: A Year of Expansion
The following year, the program expanded. Ten new ninth graders joined the fold, for a total of 15 students.

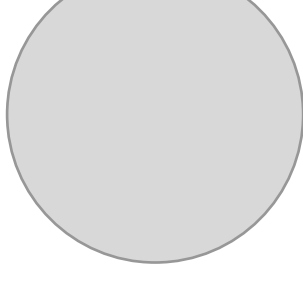

2014: The Adventure Continues!

Read Our Full History

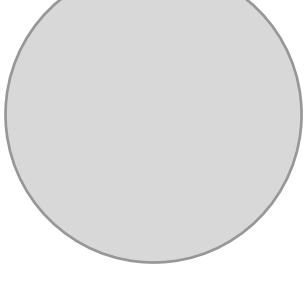

How We Work

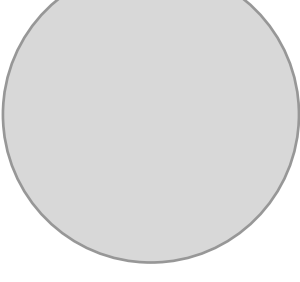

Critical Thinking

Character

Communication

Community

Our Seven Ideals on Education

The seven truisms form the philosophical underpinning of the Imagine Scholar program.

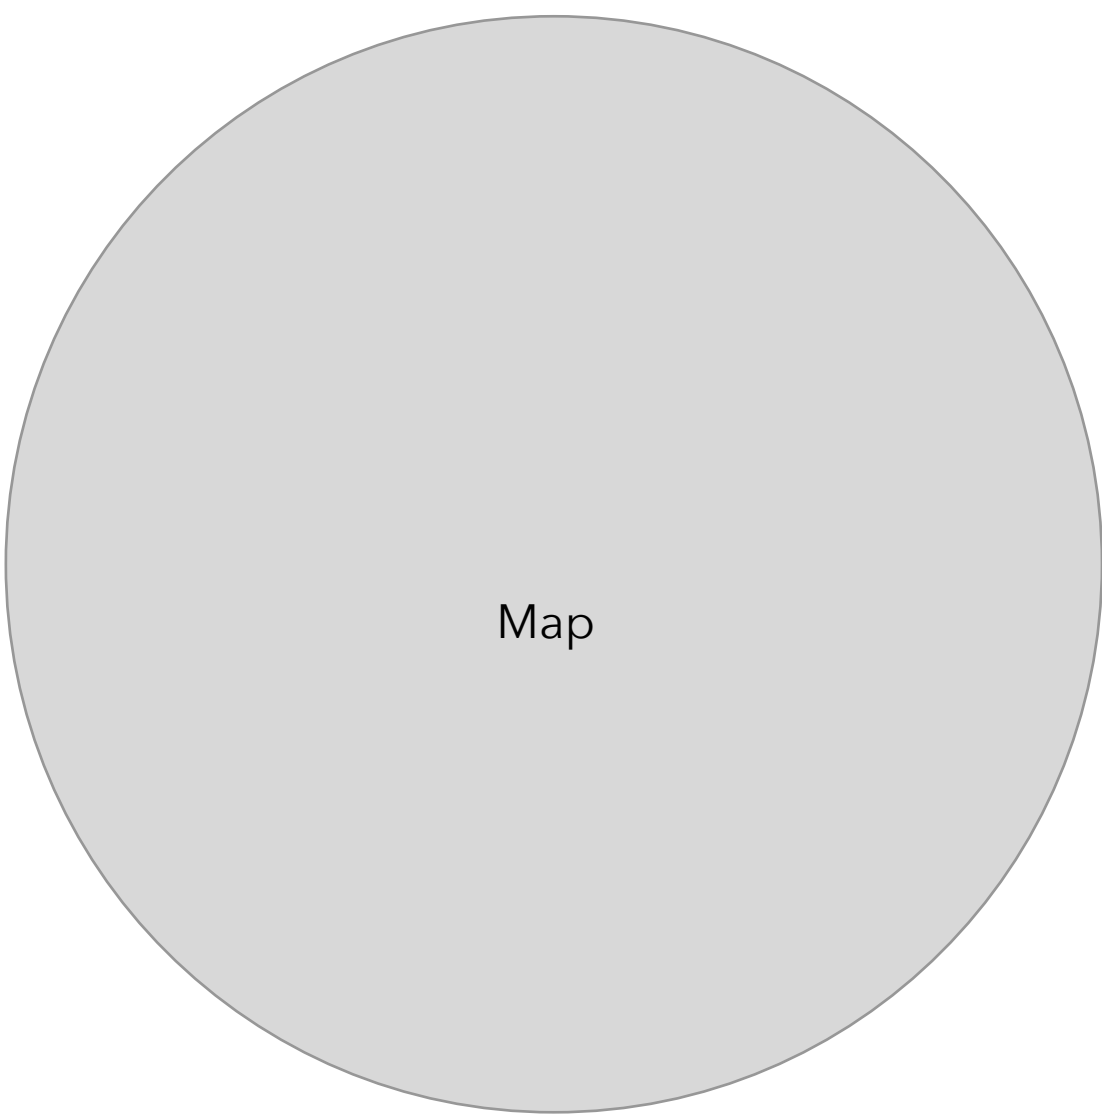

- Education is the most powerful path to empowerment and sustainable change.
- Lasting change in a community must come from within. Empowering local leaders is the most effective way to transform a community.
- An open mind among all parties is essential for meaningful growth. We believe in letting students take an active role in their education.
- Learning should never be boring. The best education takes advantage of children’s inherent passion to learn.
- All parties must bring their own passion. The organization’s commitment to excellence needs to fully meet and reciprocate the scholar’s personal determination. This exchange brings empowerment, not charity.
- Quality, not quantity, is central. An outstanding, individualized education to motivated students offers boundless opportunities.
- Every child who is willing to work hard deserves to have a space where he or she feels safe and supported.

Where We Are

Nikomazi

The Nkomazi, nestled south of Kruger National Park, north of Swaziland, and west of Mozambique, encompasses beautiful hilly terrain in the country’s northeast.

During the apartheid era, many families were forcefully relocated to the Nkomazi region. In the 1980s, thousands of refugees fleeing the Mozambican Civil War moved to the region as well. The effects of these events are still felt and the Nkomazi’s difficult economic conditions persist to this day.

Contact Us

+1.206.604.0161
US Address
South Africa Address

Connect

Facebook
Twitter
Youtube

Get Involved

Donate
Sponsor a Student
Volunteer

Get Email Updates

Email Address

Submit

Our Mission

Imagine Scholar is an educational development program for inspired youth from the rural Nkomazi region of South Africa. Our program cultivates local talent, and empowers them early on to be the drivers of change in their communities. Through a unique curriculum, students explore and build their personal character, acquire critical thinking skill sets, and develop university-level English proficiency. While on their journey of development, the Imagine Scholar students use their learned skills and unique passions to develop their own social entrepreneurship projects, allowing for immediate tangible change to take place in their communities.

Vision

Imagine Scholar provides the skill-sets and tools to high achieving students who not only want to change the course of their lives, but the future of their communities.

History

2009: The Journey Begins
The Imagine Scholar journey began in 2009 when a young American named Corey Johnson came to South Africa's rural Nkomazi region

2010: The Creation of the Imagine Scholar Program
The Imagine Scholar academy was created to address these three shortcomings.

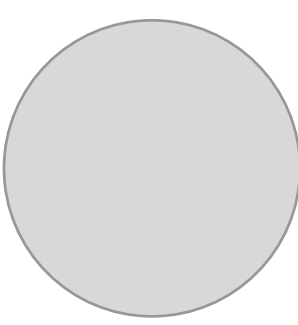

2011: A Year of Expansion
The following year, the program expanded. Ten new ninth graders joined the fold, for a total of 15 students.

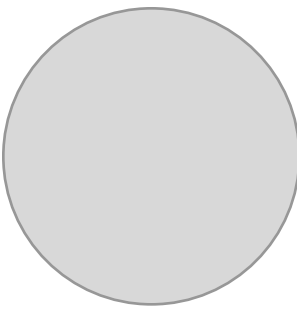

2014: The Adventure Continues!

Read Our Full History

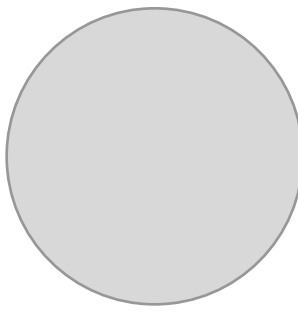

How We Work

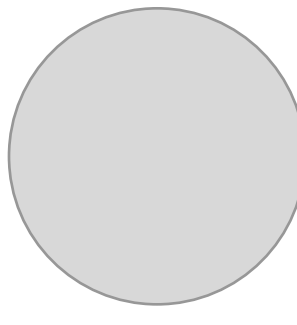

Critical Thinking

Character

Communication

Community

Our Seven Ideals on Education

The seven truisms form the philosophical underpinning of the Imagine Scholar program.

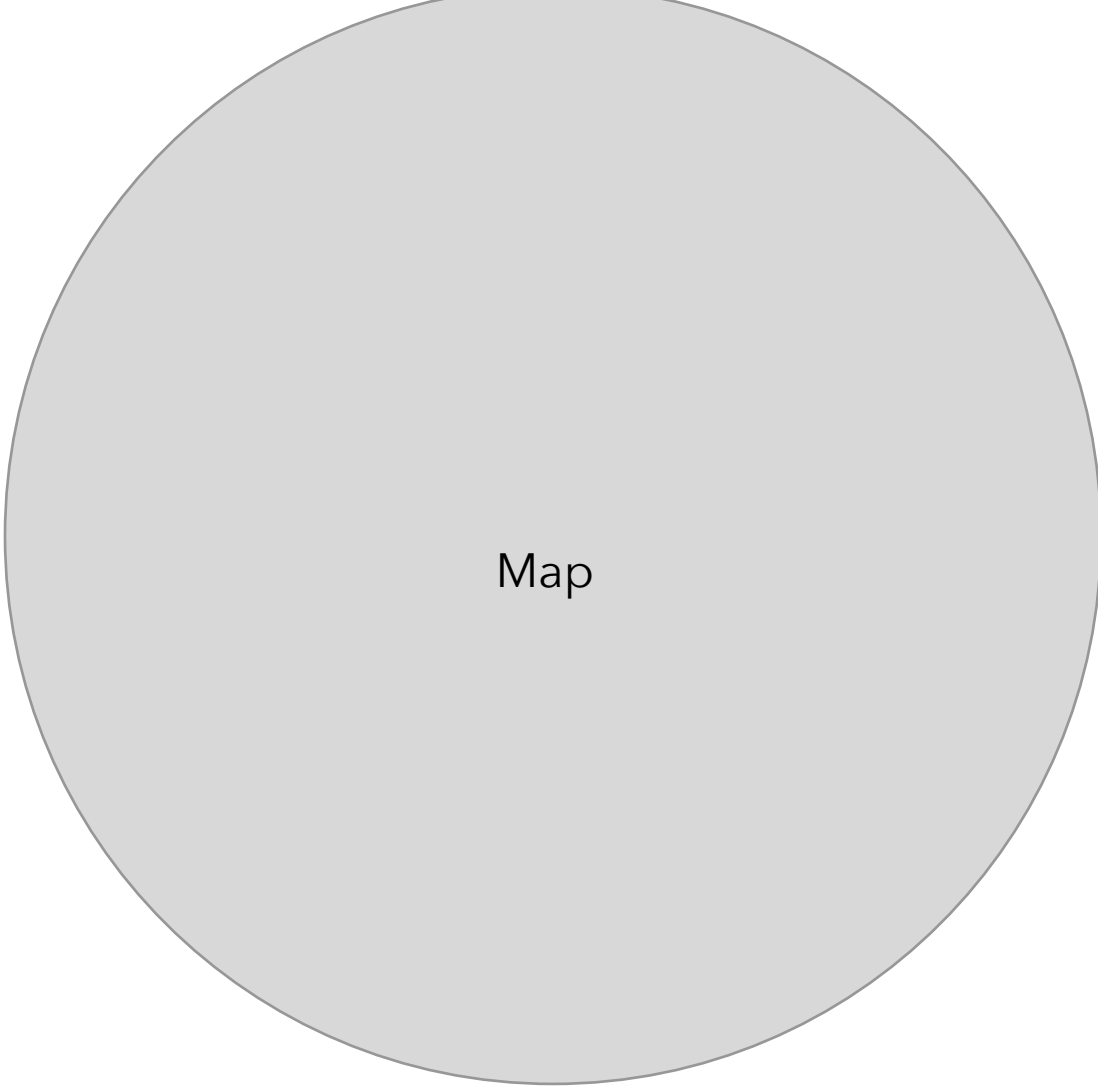

- Education is the most powerful path to empowerment and sustainable change.
- Lasting change in a community must come from within. Empowering local leaders is the most effective way to transform a community.
- An open mind among all parties is essential for meaningful growth. We believe in letting students take an active role in their education.
- Learning should never be boring. The best education takes advantage of children's inherent passion to learn.
- All parties must bring their own passion. The organization's commitment to excellence needs to fully meet and reciprocate the scholar's personal determination. This exchange brings empowerment, not charity.
- Quality, not quantity, is central. An outstanding, individualized education to motivated students offers boundless opportunities.
- Every child who is willing to work hard deserves to have a space where he or she feels safe and supported.

Where We Are

Nikomazi

The Nkomazi, nestled south of Kruger National Park, north of Swaziland, and west of Mozambique, encompasses beautiful hilly terrain in the country's northeast.

During the apartheid era, many families were forcefully relocated to the Nkomazi region. In the 1980s, thousands of refugees fleeing the Mozambican Civil War moved to the region as well. The effects of these events are still felt and the Nkomazi's difficult economic conditions persist to this day.

Contact Us

+1.206.604.0161
US Address
South Africa Address

Connect

Facebook
Twitter
Youtube

Get Involved

Donate
Sponsor a Student
Volunteer

Get Email Updates

Email Address

Submit